avenue and between the lots of Lewis H. Dale and George
A. Todd, Rogers avenue.

The way next south of Rogers avenue, Phillips avenue.

The way next south of Phillips avenue, Shepard

REPORT OF THE CEMETERY COMMISSIONERS.

Since our last report the negotiations, then begun with Mr. John Lambert for a way in the cemetery on the west of the additions of 1830 and 1855, have been completed.

In consideration of fifty dollars, land one rod in width and nearly twenty-two rods in length has been conveyed to the town by Mr. Lambert, as an addition to the cemetery, upon condition of no burials thereon, and its use as a way, and for trees.

1944785

This land has been enclosed, the way laid out and gravelled. The purchase money came to us by donation as shown hereafter.

The survey by Mr. J. W. Nourse as ordered by the town is finished and the plan made.

The old gravestones in that part of the cemetery in use before 1830, have been reset. They are decaying and the inscriptions thereon becoming illegible.

For this reason we have caused all the inscriptions in this part of the ground to be carefully copied, without expense to the town, and herewith submit the list as an appendix to this report.

For convenience we have named the several ways in the cemetery as follows:

The avenue extending south from Main street, Central avenue. The new way from Central avenue west to the addition of 1892 and thence south on said addition, Lambert avenue.

REPORT OF THE CEMETERY COMMISSIONERS

Since our last report the negotiations have begun with Mr. John Lambert for a way to the cemetery on the west side of the additions of 1830 and 1832, have been completed. In consideration of fifty dollars, and one rod in width and nearly twenty-two rods in length has been conveyed to the town by Mr. Lambert, as an addition to the cemetery, upon condition of an easement thereon and the use of a way, and for trees.

1841782

This land has been enclosed, the way laid out and gravelled. The purchase money came to us by donation as shown hereafter.

The survey by Mrs. J. W. Nelson as ordered by town is finished and the plan made.

The old graveyards in that part of the cemetery in 1830, have been levelled. They are decaying and the inscriptions thereon becoming illegible.

For this reason we have caused all the inscriptions on this part of the ground to be carefully copied, with expense to the town, and herewith submit the list as appendix to this report.

For convenience we have named the several ways to the cemetery as follows:

The avenue extending south from Main Street, called Avenue. The new way from Central we use for the addition of 1832 and thence south on said addition, called Avenue.

1841782

The way extending from Central avenue to Lambert avenue and between the lots of Lewis H. Dole and George A. Todd, Rogers avenue.

The way next south of Rogers avenue, Phillips avenue.

The way next south of Phillips avenue, Shepard avenue.

The way next south of Shepard avenue, Payson avenue.

The way next south of Payson avenue, Jewett avenue.

The way next south of Jewett avenue, Bradford avenue.

These names are selected in memory of Ezekiel Rogers, Samuel Phillips, Samuel Shepard, Edward Payson, Jedidiah Jewett and Ebenezer Bradford the first six ministers of the gospel settled over the First Church in Rowley.

The way next west of Central avenue is named Miller avenue.

The way next west of Miller avenue is named Trumble avenue.

The way next east of Central avenue is named Parrat avenue.

The way next east of Parrat avenue is named Leaver avenue.

These names are selected in memory of John Miller, Francis Parrat, John Trumble and Thomas Leaver the first four town clerks of Rowley.

The cemetery in Rowley in the Linebrook Parish has not yet been visited by your commissioners and a report thereon must be deferred until another year.

Of the many letters received evincing the interest of the writers in our cemetery and the improvements made therein it seems appropriate that one at least should appear in this report :—

233 Clarendon Street,
Boston.

Nov. 5, 1892.

MY DEAR SIR:

In answer to your letter, let me say that, until further notice from me to you or your successors, I shall be glad to bear the expense of cleaning and repairing the monument and burial lot of my ancestor the Rev. Samuel Phillips, second minister of Rowley.

I shall be glad if you can let me know about what the annual expense is likely to be.

Yours sincerely,
PHILLIPS BROOKS.

Geo. B. Blodgett, Esq.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. B. BLODGETTE.

INSCRIPTIONS FROM THE OLD CEME-TERY IN ROWLEY, MASS.

COPIED BY
GEO. B. BLODGETTE, M.A.

APPENDIX.

The following list includes all the inscriptions now (1892) to be found in that part of the cemetery in use before 1830.

Two gravestones were last year moved to the addition of 1830.

This cemetery was the only one used by the town of Rowley to 1702, when the burial ground in Byfield Parish was first used.

The first burial in the Second Parish of Rowley, now Georgetown, was in 1732. There is a cemetery in Rowley, within the limits of the Linebrook Parish, used as early as 1747; it is now without inscriptions, is wholly abandoned, and its site known to but few.

The words and figures in brackets above each inscription indicate where the same may be found in the rows of stones on the east and west side of Central Avenue, entering from Main street.

Thus [6 Row West 3] indicates the sixth row from the gate on the west side of Central Avenue and the third stone from the Avenue in that row.

Deceitful world farewell to you,
In heaven may I appear,
I bid you friends a short adieu
And will you meet me there;
And join the saints with angels bright
To praise the Sacred Three,
And dwell with him in realms of light
Who dy'd to make us free.
Then while the grave's before your eyes
Pray give this truth its weight
That on a moment as it flies
Hangs your eternal state.
Haste thou my soul arise and fly
Thro' realms of lasting day
And say there's nought below the sky
To tempt thee there to stay
Here my redeemer reigns with praise
And always from his throne,
He watches all my dust to raise

The voice of God call'd, anon I obey'd,
 Resign'd my life, & nature's debt I paid
 My fabrie now sleeps, my labours are o'er,
 My spirits landed on the boundless shore.
 Nor you friends, can death, God's messenger stay,
 But must repose too, in mouldering clay,
 Then your golden days improve, as they haste,
 Living joys flowing from Religion taste.

Be wise, love mercy, humbly with God walk
 Then vice can't proffered fruitions mock.
 That you may sing, in Canaan's liberty,
 O death, grave, where are thy sting & victory.

Though weeping relatives thy loss deplore
 Thy virtues all the human race adore
 Snatched from her children by the hand of death^h
 Calm and serenely she resigned her breath
 On each revolving year and vernal morn
 May choicest flowers her sacred urn adorn
 And when revolving time her circuit ends
 She shall bid welcome all her earthly friends
 To realms of bliss where joys eternal reign
 Devoid of care and uncontrol'd by pain

This ancient pilgrim nobly bore
The ark of God, to this lone shore;
And here, before the throne of Heaven
The hand was raised, the pledge was given,
One monarch to obey, one creed to own,
That monarch, God; that creed, His word alone.

[Mr. Rogers died January 23, 1660-1, and was buried January 26, 1660-1.]

In life, in death, with him to seal
Her kindred love, her kindred zeal.

Here rest the great and good here they repose
 after their generous toil.
 A sacred band,
 they take their sleep together.

Twine gratitude, a wreath for them
 More deathless than the diadem.
 Who, to life's noblest end,
 Gave up life's noblest powers,
 And bade the legacy descend
 Down, down to us and ours.

Erected by the Ladies Benevolent Circle,
